On the Road Again, Acts 18:18-23

1. What is a specific way your heart longs to “go forward” right now?
2. When you read Acts 18:18-23, what grabs your attention in this paragraph?
3. Luke provides more detail on some very short stays on this 2nd journey. What are some possible reasons for the very brief and limited information he gives on this period that Bible scholars estimate to cover a year or so?
4. When you consider that God has you in Cayucos, at this time, with the people of CCC, what thoughts come to your mind about His purpose and desire for you in this season?
5. What helps you discern a “yes” or “no” response to invitations to minister?
6. What motivates your care and concern for the churches (or other believers)?

What does/might that evidence itself in your life?

How might it develop or increase in your current experience?
7. How do you respond to the concept of a vow?

What did you learn about vows in this study?

How would you link Paul’s vow to the practice of a vow for you?

Is there a specific step of consecration and way of expressing that in a vow-like way that God is awakening in you?
8. What is your greatest take-away from this study?
